

(Ed. Names have been withheld due to the sensitive nature of this story)

A Family Connection

My brother-in-law who had earlier informed of his non-attendance due to another party he had to attend, dropped by with his family and even brought some food for our party. This brother had stayed away from the family due to some misunderstanding and had not attended any family functions for over 2 years. His act of coming to see his siblings together with his wife and 2 sons showed a willingness to let go of the past and start connecting with each other. I thank God that this event had opened doors for re-uniting of relationships. I am filled with joy that our prayers had been answered in His time.

Shalom

P

Do share your connection stories with the Op Connect Corner or email it to opconnect@tmc.org.sg

